

PREMISE CARE VISIBILITY

Are you often forced to relinquish precious patient care time in a mad scramble for resources and information? Premise knows that patient care is the most critical part of the patient flow process as well as the heart of every hospital's mission. In fact, managing patient care in addition to the processes between care events is the only way to completely optimize patient flow, treat more patients and enhance quality of care.

That's why Premise provides the entire picture of patient care, displaying clinical patient data along with all other information you need to effectively manage patient flow. The result: You can spend less time chasing resources and information, and more time caring for patients. By glancing at a screen, all parties—nurses, physicians and staff - can determine exactly what's happening with a patient, what tasks are outstanding, and what should happen next. You can replace chaos with an intuitive, real-time dashboard display that tells you everything:
